

How do you think a person might feel before, during and after they hurt someone?

What is he thinking?

What does he do?

How does he feel after?

